IN MEMORIAM

JEROME KOHLBERG DIES

A key mover and shaker behind the leveraged buyout mania of the 1980s, Jerome Kohlberg, 90, died Thursday at his home on Martha's Vineyard, according to several media reports. He was co-founder of private-equity giant KKR & Co., which attracted praise and criticism for its debt-leveraged purchases of high-profile companies, including RJR Nabisco, Beatrice Cos. and Union Texas Petroleum.
